SUPERVISION AND TREATMENT

The Raleigh County Day Report Center is a place where correction and treatment intertwine. We provide SUD treatment and referral services for those in need, but supervision is an important part of that process as well.

DRUG COURT & VETERANS COURT

The Raleigh DRC is the primary treatment provider for the Raleigh County drug court and veterans court treatment programs. If you have a client that may be eligible for either program, contact us for more information.

GPS MONITORING

GPS monitoring has become a key part of many treatment programs and a great option for clients on bond or in a domestic violence proceeding. See the GPS monitoring section of this book for more information about what services we can offer.

SCHEDULED CHECK-INS

Daily, weekly, monthly; we schedule supervision check-ins with each client to monitor progress and maintain contact and build rapport with our clients. Scheduled check-ins also provide an opportunity for brief intervention and a chance to address issues or obstacles that may arise for our clients.

TARGETED CASE MANAGEMENT

Each client is assigned a case manager who will monitor your client's performance, guide them through the program and provide feedback to their referring agency.

REPORTS AND FEEDBACK

We provide progress reports to referring agency as often as requested. These will include a short narrative from the case manager, class attendance, and drug screens results.

Court testimony: We can attend scheduled court hearings to provide testimony on client progress. Early notification of hearing date/time and details of case are preferred.

PEER RECOVERY SUPPORT

Through shared understanding, respect, and mutual empowerment, peer support workers help people become and stay engaged in the recovery process and reduce the likelihood of relapse.

Peer recovery support specialists work closely with clients to build up strengths, weaknesses, build rapport, define, and navigate pathway to recovery.

PRSS GROUP SESSIONS

Client's work as a group facilitated by the PRSS to better understand recovery and what to expect along the road to recovery.

ADDRESS BARRIERS AND OBSTACLES

Our PRSS will work with clients to address obstacles to treatment, recovery, and getting back on their feet after incarceration and/or years of addiction. This may include but are not limited to obtaining a driver's license, medical card, social security card, birth certificates, doctors' appointments, healthcare needs, and outside treatment options.

RESOURCE CONNECTION

Connection to outside resources to help maintain sobriety and normalcy. This can include housing, education, employment, food, clothing, etc.

PRSS TRAINING AND CURRICULUM

The Raleigh County Day Report Center can provide peer recovery curriculum and experience hours for aspiring peer recovery support specialists. The process to become state certified is tough and demanding. Our PRSS will work with up-and-coming peer recovery coaches to help meet the requirements for certification.

DRUG SCREENING SERVICES

We provide random drug screens ranging from once per month up to 5 days per week as specified by the referring agency or court order.

RANDOM COLOR CODE SYSTEM

Clients are given a unique color that corresponds with a screen frequency or clients can be given a set day or days to screen each week. When assigned a screen color, clients have the responsibility of calling into our office every day to determine if they need to screen on that day. Drug screens colors are also posted on our Facebook page each day.

OBSERVED DRUG SCREENS

All drug tests at our facility are monitored by a drug screen technician to ensure the validity of urine samples.

16 PANEL INSTANT CUP

16 panel instant cup tests are available for immediate results. However, these are always followed by laboratory GC/MS analyses to ensure accuracy. Instant cup results are presumptive in nature. Laboratory analysis will provide a definitive answer.

Current instant cups test for: opiates, oxycodone, methadone, cocaine, methamphetamines, amphetamines, benzodiazepine, barbiturates, buprenorphine, fentanyl, THC, PCP (phencyclidine), PPX (propoxyphene), TCA (Tricyclic Antidepressants), Tramadol, Ecstasy, EtG (Alcohol Metabolite), K2 Spice.

An oral mouth swab is also available for scenarios where a urine sample cannot be provided or a technician is not available for observation of the urine screen. However, it should be noted that oral mouth swabs are not as accurate as urine testing and cannot be screened for validity.

VIDEO MONITORING

The sample processing room is monitored and video recorded to ensure authenticity and sample chain of custody. If tampering or a false sample is alleged, video evidence is backed up and can be pulled for viewing.

COMMUNITY SERVICE

Curriculum Descriptions

S.A.F.E (Stopping Abuse for Everyone)

Offers clients the ability of interactive journaling through the process of self-change. This interactive Journal keeps participants focused on their change efforts. Participants engage with the core material through self-recognition and skill-development exercises that explore how past influences, high-risk beliefs and maladaptive thinking led to abusive behavior. Participants use this information to develop positive and prosocial skills, leaving the program with a personalized plan for stopping abusive behaviors and creating healthier relationships.

Men/Women in Recovery

Recovery Maintenance provides participants with cognitive strategies and behavioral skills to help achieve positive and lasting change. Participants explore their common risk factors for returning to addictive behaviors and the range of exit strategies they can employ during times of risk. Participants develop a personal Recovery Maintenance Plan.

Relapse Prevention

Participants learn tools they need to be able to identify the pattern of relapse and to interrupt that pattern before they begin to drink or use other drugs again. Participants complete a relapse prevention plan to support a program of sobriety.

Thinking For a Change

The lessons provide each group member with an overview of thinking that conveys a way to take charge of their lives by learning more effective ways of thinking. While the format for this revision of Thinking for a Change is different and improved, the theoretical and philosophical foundation of the program as originally developed, designed, and implemented has not changed. Each component is still presented in a systematic, logical fashion using the standard procedures for cognitive behavioral interventions. The three components of Thinking for a Change are: cognitive self-change, social skills, and problem-solving skills. Cognitive self-change teaches individuals a concrete process for self-reflection aimed at uncovering antisocial thoughts, feelings, attitudes, and beliefs. Social skills instruction prepares group members to engage in pro-social interactions based on self-understanding and consideration of the impact of their actions on others. Problem solving skills integrates the two previous interventions to provide group members with an explicit step-by-step process for addressing challenging and stressful real-life situations.

CBI-SUA

Cognitive-Behavioral Interventions for Substance Use Adult (SUA) is designed for people involved with the criminal justice system who are at moderate to high need in the area of substance abuse. The use of the terms “risk, risky or high risk” within this program refers to a propensity to reoffend. This curriculum can be delivered as a stand-alone substance abuse intervention or incorporated into larger programs, particularly those designed for people in the corrections system. As the name of the curriculum suggests, this intervention relies on a cognitive-behavioral approach to teach people strategies for identifying and managing risk factors related to substance abuse. This program places heavy emphasis on skill building activities to assist with cognitive, social, emotional, and coping skill development. The following sections briefly describe the primary theories from which the curriculum is based. Additionally, program and facilitator strategies are detailed for successful implementation of the group. These include group facilitation strategies that can be used for the day-to-day management of the group, as well as program and agency level implementation strategies.

Anger Management

Helps participants identify their experiences with anger and the role it has played in their past and how the body reacts to anger. Irrational self-talk that intensifies anger and the role of “should” thinking that causes anger is also covered. Participants will then develop an anger plan to help avoid difficult situations.

Life Skills

Guided self-assessments, exercises & educational handouts in the areas of problem-solving, money management, time management, self-awareness, and personal change. Life skills are those invaluable skills people use every day that, if used effectively, allow them to create the life they desire and to access the inner resources needed to succeed. A person's life skills IQ is comprised of many types of intelligence including physical, mental, career, emotional, social, and spiritual intelligence. This curriculum will help participants learn more about themselves and the competencies they possess in many life skills areas.

12 Steps

A standard set of guides for the NA Fellowship to use in working the steps. Each step includes both a narrative and questions to be used at any stage of recovery. This literature was written by addicts for addicts, with the understanding that addiction has no biases, and that by working the steps recovery is possible and life can be manageable.
